"But I say to you, love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you..." MATTHEW 5:44

Love your enemies, easier said than done, no doubt. But, remember, the foundation of Stewardship is prayer. When we are in close communication with God, it opens our heart and it turns our attention away from "me" and moves it towards God and others. It allows us to have a little more empathy for "our enemy". When we pray for others, even "our enemies," it softens their hearts as well.

PERPETUAL ADORATION

This Wednesday is Ash Wednesday, a very solemn Day when we begin our journey towards Easter Sunday. Bring our children and show them how to begin not only with ashes, but with a humble and earnest confession.

ADORERS, OFFER ONE HOUR THIS WEEK FOR ALL WHO WILL GO TO THE SACRAMENT OF CONFESSION; FOR THOSE WHO NEED THE COURAGE TO MAKE A CONFESSION AND FOR THE PRIESTS WHO HEAR THE CONFESSIONS OF REPENTANT SOULS.

Lent

My aunt and uncle once lived on a tiny street in the row-house world of South Philly. What fascinated me as a boy when my family and I visited their home was the vestibule, something lacking in our suburban home at the time. This was a very small space, hardly a “room,” formed by the main front door and another one, featuring frosted glass. This second door opened into the living area, the heart of the home, with the dining space further in, ending with the kitchen, from which came the enticing aromas promising a good meal ahead.

I thought of that long ago scene, featuring that vestibule, when I considered the Readings for today and the upcoming season of Lent. With Ash Wednesday a scant three days away, we may consider ourselves “in the vestibule” of Lent. So said, we note that these bible excerpts make for a perfect combination of commandments and practical ways to respond. “A pair of doors” if you will, into the heart of the matter.

The first commands come from the book of Leviticus, where we read that Moses was ordered to give the people the Lord’s word that they be holy. How? By not hating anyone, and not hesitating to correct anybody who needs it. Of course, they are to love their neighbor as themselves.

St. Paul weighs in with a reminder that each of us is like a temple in which God dwells. Then we read of how Our Lord spells out two of the hardest choices all Christians have to make, namely: avoiding revenge and actually loving our enemies.

We then exit this “vestibule” and step into Lent and its six weeks that follow for a kind of retreat. The self imposed prayer and fasting time to drive out any “sludge” from the “piping” of our souls. All of this is to prepare for our 2020 celebration of Easter. That celebration, as we know, balances out the calendar with seven weeks of “Alleluias” and rejoicing, with Spring as a bonus.

It seems to me this cyclical rhythm of liturgical observance helps to bring order and purpose to our spiritual life. There may be all kinds of chaos around us, with the pace of modern life never slowing down. So we need to resist that pressure lest we feel like a hamster trapped in a whirling metal circle. We are more than our schedules. More than our obligations and earthly duties. We live for a loving Lord. We trust in His way forward to a future of peace and happiness unending.

Getting back to family memories like that vestibule in my aunt and uncle’s home with that vestibule, I think from time to time of an old, now forgotten slogan once used by my Dad’s longtime employer, the Prudential Insurance Company. I know he believed in them, on several layers of meaning. The words? “The future belongs to those who prepare for it.” Not a bad watchword for all of us, here in the “vestibule” of Lent

Reflection by Rev. Leonard N. Peterson
